

Terms and Conditions

Every effort has been made to ensure that the information contained in this Prospectus is correct at the time of going to press. The School will use reasonable endeavours to deliver programmes and other services in accordance with the descriptions provided.

The School, however, reserves the right to make variations to programme contents, entry requirements and methods of delivery, and to discontinue, merge or combine programmes, both before and after a student's admission to the School, if such action is reasonably considered necessary by the School.

In the event that, prior to the student commencing the first term of study for any programme described in this Prospectus, the School discontinues the programme, the student may either (1) withdraw from the School without any liability for fees; or (2) transfer to such other programme (if any) as may be offered by the School for which the student is qualified. If in these circumstances the student wishes to withdraw from the School and to enrol in a course at a different University, the School shall use its reasonable endeavours to assist the student.

Once the student has commenced the first term of study, if:

(a) the School's ability to deliver programmes or other services in accordance with the descriptions provided is compromised by circumstances beyond the control of the School (e.g. third party industrial action), the School will use all reasonable endeavours to minimise disruption as far as it is practical to do so;

(b) the programme is cancelled or substantially varied from that described in the Prospectus for reasons other than circumstances beyond the School's reasonable control; the School will use reasonable endeavours to provide a suitable replacement programme. If the student does not wish to accept the replacement programme, the student shall be entitled to withdraw from the programme. In the event of such withdrawal the School shall make an appropriate refund of course fees.
